

Disclaimer Policy

We strive to ensure that the information contained on this website is accurate and up to date. However, neither Gateway Operations, nor its agents or affiliates, shall be liable as a result of any inaccurate or incomplete information posted herein; and therefore, all information should be independently verified before it is relied upon. For further certainty, users of this website do so at their own risk, and Gateway Operations, its agents, employees and affiliates make no representation or warranty, express or implied, in respect of any information on this website or that may be accessed through this site by way of links to other sites, including without limitation, as to the accuracy, adequacy, completeness or reliability of any information howsoever stored or transmitted, which may be obtained from this site. Information may be changed or updated without notice. While efforts are made to ensure that this website does not contain or transmit computer viruses, neither Gateway Operations, nor its agents, employees or affiliates are responsible for any damage, physical or otherwise that may result from computer viruses or malicious software that may be connected to, transmitted or result from this website and you are encouraged to take all necessary and available precautions to protect yourself from computer viruses.